Thank you for being an Arts Advocate!

The Nebraskans for the Arts (NFTA) has created this Advocacy Toolkit as a resource for those interested in developing the knowledge and skills to be effective advocates with the Nebraska Legislature.

Nebraska has a nonpartisan Unicameral; or single-house legislative body. This presents advocates a unique opportunity for citizens to interact with a group of 49 State Senators – the smallest legislative body in the United States – as a bill moves from introduction through three rounds of debate before final passage.

Whether you are new to advocacy or have been helping for many years to help promote the arts policy, this toolkit provides you with the information to communicate with Nebraska legislators in 2020.

Talking to your Senator

Making conversation with your legislator is not as intimidating as it may seem. Use these ideas as a guide to your discussion on the importance of the arts and culture to your community. Remember the main goal is to communicate your passion for your community and for the arts in your community – your State Senator wants to know the good work being done.

Before talking to your Senator/visiting their office:
- If in a group, decide who in your group is best suited to speak about the issues important to you. Decide on a list of no more than three things you want your Senator to know.
- Have any materials and handouts ready.

When talking to your Senator/visiting their office:
- Initial speaker should introduce their group to initial contact. If an office visit, you will be directed to see the Senator or an aide if the Senator is unavailable.
- Senators may be called away at the last minute, so you may be asked to meet with a staff member. Do not feel slighted. Meeting with a staff member can be just as influential, since staff carefully brief the Senator on meetings and issues.
- Address the legislator as Senator. This is a courtesy that shows respect for the office.
- Briefly introduce each person you are with if you are in a group setting at an event or team member(s) if you are on an office visit.
- Thank the Senator for their time and precede to your 3 advocacy points. Be succinct; Senators appreciate clarity and brevity.
- Share a brief personal story about the impact of the arts in the Senator’s district; try to pair it with data about arts in the district.
- The Senator may have questions. Answer them as best you can; don’t worry if you cannot answer right away. Tell them that you will get them the information as soon as possible. Contact Nebraskans for the Arts with assistance if you need it.

When it is time to leave, make sure you do the following:
- Thank the Senator for the meeting and his/her service to Nebraska.
- Invite them to one of your next events.
- Give the Senator his/her packet of information and other materials you would like to share.

Remember, make your conversation personal and heartfelt. Be genuine in your enthusiasm for the arts by talking about what you know best, and most importantly, thank them for your support!
2020 Menu of Talking Points for the Arts

The following are some talking points we wish advocates to deliver during the 2020 legislative session. Choose 2-3 points relevant to you that you wish to share:

The Arts Mean....

....Better Skills

✓ Arts spark creativity and innovation. The Conference Board reports that creativity is among the top 5 applied skills sought by business leaders—with 72 percent saying creativity is of high importance when hiring. Their Ready to Innovate report concludes, “The arts—music, creative writing, drawing, dance—provide skills sought by employers of the 3rd millennium.”

✓ Nebraska’s vibrant arts community makes us a strong recruiting draw in the 21st century economy and sets us apart from other states. Nebraska’s arts sector:
  • Generates jobs
  • Attracts businesses
  • Cultivates innovation of employees by encouraging and developing creative skills

....Better Schools

✓ Students with high arts participation and low socioeconomic status have a 4% dropout rate—five times lower than their socioeconomic status peers.

✓ Data from the College Board shows that students who take four years of arts and music classes while in high school average almost 98 points higher on their SAT scores than students who take only one-half year or less.

....Better Communities

✓ The arts are essential to the health and vitality of our communities and our nation. They improve the quality of life in our cities and town. They enhance community development; spur urban renewal; attract new businesses; draw tourism dollars; and create an environment that attracts skilled, educated workers and builds your third millennium workforce.

LB942: “Support the Arts” License Plates

✓ This bill authorizes the Department of Motor Vehicles to design, in consultation with the Nebraska Arts Council, a license plate that will help support the arts in the state.

✓ Proceeds from the sales of these license plates will be used to aid communities that develop certified creative districts as proposed in LB943.
2020 Menu of Talking Points for the Arts

Just remember – make your conversation personal and heartfelt. Be genuine in your enthusiasm for the arts by talking about what you know best, and most importantly, thank them for your support!

LB943: Creative Districts
- LB943 would authorize the Nebraska Arts Council to recommend a plan to the Legislature for the certification and development of creative districts in the state.
- The bill also permits the Nebraska Arts Council to prepare a plan to create a competitive grants program to provide a grant to any certified creative district. Funding for the grants program would come from the sale of “Support the Arts” license plates proposed in LB942.
- The U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis reports that arts and cultural production accounts for $2,732,028,000 and 2.3% of the Nebraska economy, contributing 28,135 jobs.
- Creative districts can serve as a cornerstone of tourism, economic development, and the revitalization of many downtowns. Creative districts help generate tax revenues, jobs, and a creativity-based economy.

LB422: Nebraska Arts Council
- This bill allows the certification of art therapists by the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) to practice in the state.
- An application is currently being reviewed by a licensing committee at DHHS as part of a “407 review” process for health professions. This review must take place and a recommendation sent to the Legislature before a health professions bill is taken into consideration.

Nebraska Arts Council
- The Nebraska Arts Council grants programs are a catalyst for bringing a diversity of arts programs to children and adults across Nebraska. Grants are matched by other resources, leveraging these investments.

Nebraska Cultural Endowment
- The Nebraska Cultural Endowment is the first cultural endowment in the nation to sustain both the arts and humanities; its resources support the programs and grants funded by Humanities Nebraska and the Nebraska Arts Council.
- The Nebraska Cultural Endowment is a true private-public partnership; private gifts are matched by a State fund and are used to benefit communities.

Lawmaking in Nebraska

The lawmaking process in Nebraska officially begins when a senator introduces a bill into the Legislature, which meets each January. But the process actually begins much earlier, when a senator first begins to formulate ideas for new laws.

An idea for a new law may be suggested by anyone: concerned citizens, special interest groups, state agencies or the governor. But before the Legislature can formally consider the idea, it must be introduced as a bill by a senator or legislative committee.

Committees debate and propose amendments to bills, and the full Legislature has an opportunity to debate each bill at least two times before its final passage. Senators may propose amendments to alter a bill at each stage of debate.

Read through the steps below to learn how a bill becomes a Nebraska state law.

Idea
First, a senator and his or her staff research a problem and study possible legislative remedies. A senator may introduce a bill to create a new law, repeal an existing law or change a law.

The Legislature has a research division that helps senators with their research projects. Much of their research is done during the period between sessions called the interim. During this time, legislative committees study a variety of issues that have been outlined in interim study resolutions passed by the Legislature.

A senator brings his or her idea for a new law to a bill drafter, who works with the senator to transform the idea into the proper legal form for a legislative bill. Unlike some states, bills introduced in Nebraska may contain only one subject.

Introduction
Most bills are introduced during the first 10 days of the legislative session which begins each January. In order to introduce a bill, a senator files it with the Clerk of the Legislature. The clerk reads the title of the bill into the record, assigns it a number and prints copies of it for public and legislative use.

The Legislative Fiscal Office prepares budget statements that estimate the anticipated change in state, county, or municipal expenses or revenue under the provisions of each bill. This statement is called a fiscal note. The fiscal note contains three estimates. One estimate is calculated by the fiscal office staff; another is prepared by the governor’s budget office; and a third is prepared by the affected state agency. In addition, the fiscal office prepares appropriations bills (“A” bills), which accompany bills that have a fiscal impact.

Committee
A nine-member Reference Committee then determines which bills will go to each one of the 14 standing committees. With the exception of a few technical bills, most bills introduced into the Legislature must receive a public hearing by a committee. At hearings, citizens have a chance to express their opinions to committee members. Testimony is recorded and transcribed to become a part of the official committee record.

After the hearing, committees may:
• vote to send the bill to general file with or without amendments,
• indefinitely postpone the bill, or
• take no action on it.
• Go to the Committees portion of this site for more information on committee membership and the committee process.

General File
General File is the first time the full Legislature has the opportunity to debate and vote on bills. At this stage, senators consider amendments, which may be proposed by committees and by individual senators. Many people consider General File to be the most crucial stage of the legislative process because it is where most compromises are reached. It takes a majority vote of the Legislature (25 votes) to adopt amendments or move a bill from General File to the next stage of consideration.

Enrollment & Review
Commonly referred to as "E & R," enrollment and review is a process by which previously adopted amendments are incorporated into a bill, and the bill is checked for technical and grammatical accuracy.

Select File
Select File is the second debating and voting stage. This step allows another opportunity for amendment, compromise and reflection. Bills on Select File may be indefinitely postponed or advanced to the next stage. After Select File, bills are sent to E & R again to be rechecked. Bills then are reprinted for Final Reading.

Final Reading
Before final passage, all bills are constitutionally required to be read aloud in their entirety by the Clerk of the Legislature, unless three-fifths (30 members) of the Legislature votes to waive the requirement. A bill may not be amended or debated on Final Reading, but may be returned to Select File for a specific amendment. Bills may not be voted on for final passage until at least five legislative days after the bill is introduced, and one legislative day after it is placed on Final Reading.

A proposed constitutional amendment requires a three-fifths vote of the elected members (30) to place it on the general election ballot and a four-fifths vote (40) to place it on a primary or special election ballot. All other bills without an emergency clause require a simple majority vote before going to the governor. A bill with an emergency clause requires a vote of two-thirds (33 members) of the Legislature.
Governor
After the Legislature passes a bill on Final Reading, it goes to the governor for consideration. The governor has five days, excluding Sundays, to decide what to do with a bill. If the governor signs a bill or declines to act on it, the bill becomes a state law. The governor may veto a bill, and he or she has the authority to strike specific budget appropriations (line-item veto). The Legislature may override any gubernatorial veto, although it takes a vote of 30 senators to do so.

Laws of Nebraska
Most bills passed and approved by the governor become law three calendar months after the Legislature adjourns. However, bills may take effect before that date if they contain an emergency clause or a specified operative date.

Tips on Testifying at a Committee Hearing

The Hearing Process
A committee may consider several bills during an afternoon. The committee chairperson determines the order in which bills will be heard, the rules for testifying and whether there will be a time limit on your testimony. The length of time spent on each bill varies and depends largely on the number of people testifying, the length of their testimony and the number of questions asked by committee members.

Usually, unless otherwise indicated, hearings begin at 1:30 p.m. Each bill is presented by the senator who sponsors it. After the sponsoring senator finishes his or her introduction, the committee chair typically will ask proponents of the bill to come forward individually and state their reasons for supporting the measure. Then, the chair will ask the bill’s opponents to come forward and state their opinions. Often, committee chairpersons will allow individuals to testify in a neutral capacity.

If you want to testify before the committee, you will need to fill out the sign-in sheet at the witness table, orally identify yourself and spell your last name for the record, and state who, if anyone, you represent as you begin your testimony. It is important to remember that committee proceedings are transcribed verbatim.

Letters or written communications containing support, opposition or neutral testimony also are accepted by committees during a bill’s public hearing. Persons wishing to send written information should address their correspondence to the office of the senator who chairs the committee and ensure that the information arrives by 5:00 p.m. of the day before the hearing.
Citizen Testimony
As a concerned citizen, there are several ways in which you may communicate effectively with your senator in an attempt to suggest or influence legislation. One way is to testify at a legislative hearing.

At public hearings, citizens have an opportunity within the time available to make their views known or have them incorporated into the official committee record. In Nebraska, gubernatorial appointments and most bills, with the exception of a few technical bills, receive a public hearing by one of the Legislature's committees.

Generally, testimony on legislative bills is heard by one of the Legislature's 14 standing committees:

- Agriculture
- Appropriations
- Banking, Commerce and Insurance
- Business and Labor
- Education
- General Affairs
- Government, Military and Veterans Affairs
- Health and Human Services
- Judiciary
- Natural Resources
- Nebraska Retirement Systems
- Revenue
- Transportation and Telecommunications
- Urban Affairs

Each of these committees has seven to nine members.

Testimony Tips
Be aware that sometimes the sponsor of a bill will offer amendments when he or she presents the bill to the committee. These proposed amendments may change the way you feel about the bill and, thus, affect your testimony.

Be prepared to limit your testimony and try not to repeat testimony offered by previous witnesses. Remember that while senators want to hear what you have to say, there are numerous witnesses who also want to be heard.

Be prepared to answer questions asked by committee members.

Most observers agree that, as a witness, you will be more effective in getting your message across if you have prepared your testimony in writing. If you do this, it is helpful to bring enough copies to distribute to all committee members, the two committee staff members, media and the transcribers' office. Fifteen copies is usually enough to accomplish this. If written testimony is lengthy, it can be distributed and summarized orally to conserve the committee's time.

Addressing committee members or witnesses from the audience, public demonstrations and applause are prohibited.
